

PBPA BUSINESS HIGHLIGHT

FILEFAX

Filefax, a division of California Space Management, Inc., located in the Poway Business Park at 13135 Danielson Street, Suite 212, has been serving the needs of San Diego businesses since 1983. Filefax provides effective and efficient space and storage management solutions through the design of specialized, accessible storage systems which maximize and save space.

Filefax does more than simply supply industrial-strength steel shelving systems that hold materials, boxes and documents. This Poway based company's sales staff, in-house design department, project managers and installation team installs systems that are custom designed to meet the special needs of clients. For example, Filefax recently installed a unique shelving system at the San Diego Natural History Museum. Each shelving unit rolls along a set of rails embedded in the floor so that the units can be pressed together when not in use and separated when access is required. By eliminating permanent walking space between each shelving unit, Filefax created 30,000 square feet of usable space for the Museum – that's the equivalent of more than half a football field of space!

Filefax is San Diego's largest and most experienced provider of space efficient storage solutions and is proud to be the area's exclusive provider of Spacesaver Brand products. Spacesaver Corporation is the nation's leading manufacturer of high density mobile storage systems and other specialized storage products. Filefax has installed more than 1,000 systems installed locally, providing solutions for clients in all industries, including those requiring specialized applications such as healthcare, government, education and public safety. Whether it's the storage of medical supplies, legal files, library books, weapons, personnel gear, parachutes, pharmaceuticals, artifacts, sports equipment or DNA samples, Filefax can provide a customized solution that will create order and efficiency.

Filefax's storage strategies, application designs, engineering capabilities and construction skills help clients achieve an optimum of benefits and cost savings (in both time and money). Regardless of the level of storage a project requires, and no matter how big or small, Filefax can provide an effective, efficient and affordable solution.
